Required Texts and Materials:

Textbook Information

Macionis, John J. 2017 (14th Edition). Society: The Basics. Upper Saddle River, NJ: Pearson.
{It is imperative that you have the 14th edition of text for this course.}

I would also strongly encourage students to purchase the loose-leaf version of the text and/or a blue “REVEL Student Access Code Card.” This “REVEL Student Access Code Card” allows students to access a host of useful online materials including a mobile-ready eBook version of the Society: The Basics (with audio) and short integrated quizzes. You can find the specific link to our class on the Canvas homepage. I think these online materials are an excellent resource for students. However, using the textbook website and online resources will not be required.

Course Description:

This course provides an acquaintance with basic concepts and major figures of the discipline. We will focus social processes and institutions and look at the relationship of the individual to social structures. We will explore how and why people of different cultures control their societies, evaluate their behavior, and organize as they do. In short, we will examine how people become human through the use of the sociological perspective.

Course Objectives:

USU's IDEA Essential Course Objectives

In Introductory Sociology (SOC 1010), we will focus on 3 broad learning objectives. These 3 objectives are:

1. Gaining factual knowledge (terminology, classifications, methods, trends)
2. Learning fundamental principles, generalizations, or theories
3. Learning to apply course materials (to improve rational thinking, problem solving and decisions)

Sociology Program Objectives

Upon completion of the course students should be able to:

- 1) Understand and apply concepts and theories used in sociology.
- 2) Develop and use their "sociological imagination" and see how individuals, even themselves, are influenced by other people and by society.
- 3) See that although they are shaped by society they also can change society.

Sociology classes collectively contribute to form the major goals of the Sociology Program. Students will learn to:

- 1) Communicate effectively.
- 2) Think critically, analytically, and reason logically about social issues and/or social problems.
- 3) Understand and use sociological principles, concepts, and theories to examine social behavior and issues.
- 4) Understand and evaluate the application of sociological methods to social behavior and issues.

Specific assignments in this course will assess students' learning in one or more of the above objectives.

Classroom Policies and Procedures:

Attendance

Since much of what students will learn in this course occurs during lectures, class discussion, class activities, and video presentations, regular attendance is expected. Students who miss class are responsible for getting notes and handouts. Neither I nor my teaching assistants will lend our notes or handouts to students. In the case of a student's unexcused absence from class, no make-up exams, quizzes, or class discussion assignments will be given to the student. Only those students who miss class with an excused absence will be allowed to make-up an exam, quiz, or class discussion assignment. Make-up exams and quizzes/activities will be given only to those students who have filled out a note card regarding the excused absence and, unless there is schedule change, will occur Monday, December 4 during the regular class period. All make-up quizzes/activities will consist of a written assignment. If the student's participation in organized University activities should require missing a class, it is the student's responsibility to notify the instructor in advance and to arrange to make-up the work missed. Likewise, students who miss class for any other legitimate reason should notify the instructor in advance of their absence if possible. No make-up quizzes/activities or exams will be given to a student who fails to notify the instructor in advance of an absence unless some form of documentation of an emergency is produced by the student. Only under the most extreme emergencies will I accept a late extra credit service project paper or give a make-up exam or quiz/activity without written notification of an excused absence from the University. There will be at least ten quizzes/activities given throughout the course of the semester to encourage students to attend class and to keep up with course materials. Students have one week from the time of their return to class to make arrangements to show documentation of any excused absence from class. I strongly prefer handling attendance issues in my office during my office hours. Students must fill out an index card to arrange any make-up work. An index card must be filled out by the student for each day there is an excused absence. Only those students who fill out an index card(s) with excused absences will be allowed to complete any missed class assignments. All excused make-up work is scheduled to occur on Monday, December 4 during the regular class period.

Classroom Behavior

I will follow University guidelines and policies regarding student behavior in this course. In general, I expect students to respect other students and help maintain the proper learning environment needed for students to succeed in this course. Please do not disrupt the class by walking in late, leaving early, holding a conversation or answering your cell phone during a lecture or a video presentation. Students will not be permitted to take exams or quizzes/activities if they walk in after the start of the assignment or leave prematurely unless prior arrangements have been made by the student. No cell phone use of any kind is allowed during an exam or quiz/activity. As per University policy, I will not hesitate in failing and removing a disruptive student from this course.

Reading Assignments

Readings will be assigned from Society: The Basics by Macionis. Students are expected to follow the reading schedule provided in the tentative class schedule. Please read the assignment prior to the class period for which it is assigned. By following the reading schedule students will benefit by not only being able to ask better questions, discuss ideas more often, and do better on the pop quizzes, but also students who follow the reading schedule will not be faced with reading the approximate 100+ pages covered by each exam the night before the exam. Short additional readings will be assigned throughout the semester and will be made available to students thru electronic reserve.

Video Presentations

During the course of the semester numerous videos will be shown. Students are expected to take careful notes during these presentations. Test items will be taken from the information that is presented in the videos. No videos will be loaned to students who miss class. Students who miss class will assume the responsibility of getting the notes from the video presentation.

Exams

There are 4 exams in this course. The first 3 exams are worth 120 points each. The first 3 exams will not be cumulative but considerable material will be covered by each exam. The fourth exam is also worth 120 points. A portion of the fourth exam will be comprehensive. All exams will be “objective” and can include true/false, multiple choice, and matching questions. In calculating a student's course grade, the lowest exam score from the first 3 exams will be dropped. However, the fourth exam cannot be dropped. Students will be expected to take exams as scheduled. Students will not be permitted to take exams or quizzes if they walk in after the start of the assignment unless prior arrangements have been made by the student. All make-up examinations are scheduled to be given during the regular class period on Monday, December 4 and only will be allowed if the absence was excused and an index card was filled out by the student.

Quizzes/Activities

There will be at least 10 quizzes or class activities throughout the course of the semester. Each quiz or class activity will be worth 10 points. In calculating a student's course grade, the lowest quiz/activity score will be dropped. Thus, students can miss or fail at one quizzes/activities without lowering their grade. Quizzes and activities can include worksheets from video presentations; short take home written assignments, taking part in an online class discussion, web-based exercises, and the participation in a class activity. Students will not be permitted to take quizzes or class activities if they walk in after the start of the assignment unless prior arrangements have been made by the student. All make-up quizzes/activities will consist of a written assignment, are scheduled to be given during the regular class period on Monday, December 4 and only will be allowed if the absence was excused and an index card was filled out by the student.

Extra Credit Service Project Paper

Students will be given the opportunity to complete a 2-3 page typed paper for the course for extra credit. The service project paper will be worth a maximum of 20 points extra credit for no more than 1/3 of a letter grade increase. The service project paper will involve applying sociological concepts and theories to the experiences students have while spending at least 3 hours engaging in a service activity. Students are to use the Val R. Christensen Service Center (TSC 332) or SSWA Department to arrange for their service activity. Service activities are to occur during the current semester. Service activities used to meet the requirements of another USU course are not to be used for this paper. The paper portion of the extra credit service project is due at the assigned time during the final exam period for the course. I will provide further requirements and details regarding this assignment between the first and second exam.

Students with Disabilities

Students with ADA-documented physical, sensory, emotional or medical impairments may be eligible for reasonable accommodations. Veterans may also be eligible for services. All accommodations are coordinated through the Disability Resource Center (DRC) in Room 101 of the University Inn, (435)797-2444 voice, (435)797-0740 TTY, or toll free at 1-800-259-2966. Please contact the DRC as early in the semester as possible. Alternate format materials (Braille, large print or digital) are available with advance notice. Please let me know how I can assist you in succeeding in this course.

Academic Dishonesty

Acts of academic dishonesty (i.e. cheating, falsification, plagiarism) will not be tolerated in this class. I will follow University guidelines regarding my academic dishonesty policy. Students who participate in academically dishonest activities will receive an F for the course at the minimum. Thus, if you are caught cheating even on a 10 point quiz/activity, you will flunk this course and may face stiffer penalties depending upon the nature of the offense.

Grades

Grades will be determined on a total points basis. Remember that your lowest exam score from the first 3 exams will be dropped and your lowest quiz/activity score will be dropped. I will add any extra credit points earned to the total before determining grades. Neither my teaching assistant nor I will discuss grades over the phone. Students have 10 days from posting of scores for an exam or quiz/activity to review and question the number of points they have received for the activity. Points and grades will be assigned as follows:

Exam 1-3 Ranked #1	120 points	423-450 points = A (94-100%)
Exam 1-3 Ranked #2	120 points	405-422 points = A- (90-93%)
Fourth Exam	120 points	391-404 points = B+ (87-89%)
Top 9 of 10 Quizzes/Activities	90 points	373-390 points = B (83-86%)
TOTAL	450 points	360-372 points = B- (80-82%)
(Extra Credit added to total)		346-359 points = C+ (77-79%)
		328-345 points = C (73-76%)
		315-327 points = C- (70-72%)
		301-314 points = D+ (67-69%)
		270-300 points = D (60-66%)
		269 or below = F (59-0%)
